

MONEY IS ASKED FOR PLAYGROUNDS

Committee Wants Council to Appropriate $7,500 for Children.

ORGANIZATIONS HELPING

Aid Requested to Get Suitable Recreation Opportunities for Richmond.

It is thought likely that some of the many friends of recreation work in the City Council will introduce a preliminary measure to bring the essential features of the playgrounds plan into operation. Just when this will be presented and to what committee it will be referred is not at present known.

If the plans of the different people interested are worked out, the survey will result in a definite extension of work in Richmond, greatly, it is believed, to the benefit of the children and young people of the city.

The committee on recreation and playgrounds, which last spring had a thorough recreation survey made of the city, has secured the co-operation of many other interested bodies in bringing the matter to the attention of the City Council.

Organizations Help.

During last week a number of letters were sent out to the different organizations enlisting their co-operation. After reciting the fact that the committee on recreation and playgrounds seeks not to do away with any work already done, but to extend the system now in vogue until it reaches more children and older children, the letter asks these different organizations to appoint a committee to urge their endorsement of the plan for extension on the City Council.

The names of these committees from the different organizations are to be placed on file with the secretary of the committee on recreation and playgrounds, Julian H. Hill, of the National State and City Bank, and will be called upon to express their opinion of the plan to the members of the City Council when the matter is presented to them.

In describing the plans for extension of recreation work the letter says:

"Last spring the committee on recreation and playgrounds was organized to co-operate with interested citizens in studying and developing the recreation life of the city. A fund was raised and part of it spent in making a comprehensive survey of the recreation situation of Richmond by an expert. A clipping summarizing the survey is inclosed.

Outstanding Facts Emphasized by this Report are:

"1. Richmond has congestion of population conditions equal to cities two and three times its size. This results in less than one-tenth of the nonstreet space being free for play.

"2. Three-quarters of the Richmond school buildings have less outdoor play space per child than the minimum set by the School Board of London, Eng., for that congested metropolis.

"3. After school hours 70 per cent of the children in Richmond are on the streets; 64 per cent are doing nothing, 12 per cent working, 24 per cent playing.

"4. Young people between fifteen and twenty-five years of age furnish 35 per cent of the attendance at Richmond theatres and moving picture shows. This recreation must be kept wholesome.

"5. Each week in warm weather at least 65,000 people are striding on Broad Street for pleasure.

"6. The expert's report says: 'An adequate recreation system has to consider the recreation of over 25,000 children and young people in Richmond, either to furnish the recreation directly or to supplement, guard and assist the supply of recreation by private or commercial agencies.'

"The present summer playgrounds in Richmond reach about 900 children, 85 per cent of whom are under eleven years of age. The committee on recreation and playgrounds seeks the co-operation of all interested in extending the recreation system of the city.

larger playgrounds in the different wards of the city.

"There is a difference of opinion as to details of the plan, but if all join in supporting the main issue, namely, the securing of greater use of the present city property, under competent supervision, and the gradual acquisition of more play space, a great service can be done for the children and young people of Richmond."

Something very unusual, if not unprecedented, occurred at the county clerk's office here this week, when Robert Dean, colored, aged eighty-seven, applied for a license to marry Ellen Dean, who had been his wife when both of them were slaves. Belonging to different masters, as was so often the case, the wife was sold, and they lost sight of each other, and each contracted another marriage. The respective husband and wife both being dead, now the old couple have come together again. It created some comment in the clerk's office, but the old man obtained his license, and he and the wife of his youth were remarried later in the week by the Rev. Werner Gibbs.

PLAN TO ORGANIZE DEBATING UNION

University Literary Societies Seek to Interest Graded and High Schools.

Chapel Hill, November 3.—The Dialectic and Philanthropic Literary societies of the university have evolved a plan for the organization of a "North Carolina High School Debating Union," composed of all of the graded and high schools in the State. The purpose of the organization is to stimulate greater interest in debating and encourage inter-school debating among the secondary schools in the State, and to this end more than 375 letters have been sent practically to all of the high and graded schools asking their support and co-operation.

The societies, with the help of the schools, will arrange for a triangular debate about February 1, held according to the standing and convenience of the schools, each school sending out a team to debate the negative side and keeping a team at home to debate the affirmative side. The schools that win both sides of their debate will be entitled to send both of their teams to Chapel Hill, where a contest will be held before the final debate of the material in the championship contest in Gerrard Hall on the evening of February 22. The school winning in this final contest will receive the Aycock Memorial cup, with the name of the school and members of the team engraved on it. If one school wins the cup two successive years it is awarded the cup permanently.

The two societies of the university will suggest the query to be discussed and will arrange in pamphlet form all of the material in the university library on both sides of the question and furnish it to all of the competing schools without cost and will give suggestions for finding more material.

All of the school representatives sent to the university will be met at the station by a committee and will be guests of the societies while at Chapel Hill.

The organization of this State debating union has been under discussion for a year or more, but the complete plans have just been worked out by a committee, with the assistance of C. E. McIntosh, of the Durham High School, who is an alumnus of the university. A somewhat similar union is being carried out by the universities of Texas and Wisconsin, and is proving successful in both States.

In response to the letters and rules governing the contest sent out, many letters have been received from the high schools in the State approving the plan and offering their hearty co-operation. Among the schools thus far heard from are those of Raleigh, Charlotte, Madison, Battsboro, Pittsboro and Rowland.

The committee on the high school debates is composed of Arnold A. McKear, of Braxton, chairman; E. R. Rankin, of Quantico, secretary; Horace Smith, of Waco; R. C. Spence, of Kipton; T. E. Story, of Blowing Rock; A. L. Hamilton, of Atlantic; L. R. W. Walker, State High School Inspector.

DEMOCRATSON EVE OF GREAT VICTORY

North Carolina Will Give Wilson Greatest Majority Ever Received by Any Candidate.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Raleigh, N. C., November 3.—Discussing the outlook in North Carolina for the general election on Tuesday, Hon. Charles A. Webb, chairman of the State Democratic Committee, said, before leaving for his home in Asheville, to remain until after the election:

"We are on the eve of the greatest Democratic victory in the history of the nation and the State. Governor Woodrow Wilson's election to the presidency is as certain as any unforeseen event can be. The glorious fact should make the heart of every North Carolinian swell with pride. Again the South is to assume its place in the forefront of the nation. Born in Old Virginia, reared and schooled in our own Commonwealth, it is a matter of the greatest pride to every patriotic North Carolinian that our great leader, statesman, friend and champion of all the people, this splendid son of the South, is soon to administer the affairs of the greatest government in all the world.

"Wilson will not only sweep the entire country, but North Carolina will give him the greatest plurality and the greatest majority ever given a candidate for the presidency. His plurality over either Taft or Roosevelt will not be less than 100,000, and his majority over both will not be less than 60,000.

"Locke Craig will be elected Governor by the largest majority ever given a candidate for that high office. His plurality over either Nease or Settle will be at least 110,000, and the entire Democratic ticket will carry the State by a similar vote.

"We will send a solid delegation of ten members to Congress. Every district is absolutely safe.

"We will elect forty-six Senators and possibly forty-seven, and 100 members of the lower house of the Legislature and possibly 102."

PROGRESSIVES TO VOTE FOR SLEMP

Roosevelt's Appeal Will Seriously Affect Result in Ninth District.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Bristol, Va., November 3.—Under existing circumstances, the appeal from Colonel Roosevelt to his supporters in the Ninth Virginia District support Graham in his candidacy for Congress as opposed to Slemp will, Republicans believe, cause any commotion or seriously affect result. The situation is a peculiar one. It is an undisputed fact that Moores participated liberally in a convention which nominated Slemp. It was said at the time, and the prevailing opinion seems to be, that Roosevelt men were in control in the convention.

Dr. J. M. Dougherty, of Scott County, was a Moore candidate for the nomination of the Bristol convention. Slemp not being insisted upon, Dougherty in all probability would have been nominated. It was votes of Moores that made the nomination of Slemp possible, and it had been accomplished, Dr. Dougherty came forward and pledged his support. John L. Einstein, of Roanoke, is the only man who openly opposed Slemp on the floor of the convention. He said that in his opinion Slemp could not carry Pulaski County, and that if he should be nominated, would be defeated.

Following the Bristol convention, part of the Moores held any party convention, and when Mr. Graham became a candidate, the Progressive ticket, he did so with a nomination.

"It is a clear explanation of the situation, and furnishes the why, Moore, as a body, do duty-bound to obey the voice of a chief. It is the opinion of such men as Senator John Catron and others, this end of the district, who are equally as enthusiastic for Slemp, that the Progressives as a party continue to claim Slemp as their candidate and that a large majority will continue to support him.
